Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-4, 6-9, 19-22, 24-27 and 33 are allowed.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

A. Claims 1-4, 6-9, 19-22, 24-27 and 33 are directed to an image forming system and method. Claims 1, 19 and 33 identify the uniquely distinct features of "when the image relating to the subject data is formed on a second recording medium provided thereon with an RFID tag by said image forming means in accordance an the image forming instruction, said database means obtains second identification information read by said detecting means from the RFID tag of the second recording medium and stores the second identification information in association with the subject data in the database; retrieving means that detects the subject data from the database corresponding to the identification information of the recording medium read by said detecting means, at a timing later than when the image relating to the subject data is formed on the recording medium" Applicant's arguments on pages 14 and 15 of the Remarks are very persuasive, therefore the previous rejection is withdrawn. The closest prior art Mukai (US 6,466,329) teaches in column 3, lines 25-40, "the method steps include electronically imaging a hardcopy original page or receiving an electronic page image from an extrinsic source. Next, it is necessary to ascertain from the electronic page image the presence of page identification indicia. After that, a comparison match is made between any detected indicia with indicia representing addressable page images recorded in the storage arrangement. In the absence of any ascertained identification indicia or in the presence of a comparison indicia mismatch, a hardcopy reproduction or a softcopy transmission of the electronic page image is conducted. Lastly, in the presence of a comparison indicia match, the previously recorded electronic image with the same indicia is accessed from the storage arrangement, and the accessed image is either reproduced in hardcopy or transmitted in softcopy", either singularly or in combination with other cited references fails to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious (when used with all the claimed limitations).

Art Unit: 2625

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
